

Remote symptom monitoring has never been more critical for cancer patients

Noona® is a patient outcomes management solution designed to support oncology care teams with clinical decision making in symptom monitoring and outcomes management for patients who are living with cancer. Noona enables clinics to remotely address the needs of patients who may be immunocompromised and reduce their exposure to clinical environments.

For more information: www.varian.com/noona

Engage Patients

Keep patients engaged in their care and improve their overall experience

Decrease Resource Utilization

Reduce avoidable ER visits or hospitalizations

Preserve Patient Health

Symptom management may provide a better quality of life for patients living with cancer varian

noona®